Annual parade & picnic Saturday

Break out the noisemakers!

West Sacramento's traditional Community Day Parade will return Saturday at 1 p.m., proceeding eastbound on West Capitol Ave. from Walnut to just east of Jefferson Blvd.

Tapped for duties as grand marshal is local boxing champion Willie Jorrin.

The parade is sponsored by Arco Products, the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce and the City of West Sacramento.

A Community Day Picnic will follow the parade -- courtesy of a group of local churches who have sponsored the event.

The public is invited to visit Memorial Park (West Sacramento Little League Park, at 18th and Delaware) from 3 to 7 p.m. for hot dogs and soft drinks, free while they last. Also schedule will be carnival games, relay races and perhaps softball games.

"The picnic is important because we are all the Lord's family and we are all gathering to support one another in the name of the Lord," said Larry Lankford of First Baptist Church. "And the community is also part of that family. We are all one."

Other church sponsors are River of Life Community Church, Trinity Presbyterian, First Southern Baptist Church, Our Lady of Grace , and Horizon Christian Fellowship.

City to explore possibility of 'in-house' lawyer

The West Sacramento City Council agreed last week to support councilman Jim Cahill's exploration of using a staff attorney to do much of the work now contracted out to the Sacramento law firm Kronick, Moskovitz, Tiedemann & Girard.

Cahill said he thought such an arrangement could save the city $500,000.

Mayor Christopher Cabaldon said yesterday that he was "skeptical" of the savings, and that $500,000 approximately equals the entire amount of the city's annual legal expenditures.

"In theory, you have somebody handling routine legal matters in house rather than contracting out for that," said Cabaldon. "But even in a law firm, those matters would be assigned to the lowest paid attorney or paralegal who could handle them. . . legal services is not an area in which I am inclined to cut corners, because the potential cost (of mistakes) is far greater than the ten or twenty thousand dollars you might save."

Cahill and staff will work on an outline for a possible new legal arrangement, including an in-house attorney. The matter will return to the council for discussion.

New affordable housing project opens

Officials from the West Sacramento Housing Development Corporation, PG&E and the city of West Sacramento were among those on hand Sept. 27 for a ribbon-cutting ceremony for West Capitol Courtyard II, an affordable housing complex developed next to the original courtyard complex which is located at 2455 West Capitol Ave. in West Sacramento.

The $11 million, 75-unit complex is now complete and adds to the city's reservoir of decent and affordable housing while attempting to fight blight. The project was a combination of rehabilitation and new construction, and now includes 24 one-bedroom units, three studio apartments, 24 two-bedroom units, 16 three-bedroom units and eight four-bedroom units. Rents range from $360 to $615 per month. The units will be rented to families or individuals with incomes below 50 percent of the area median income, said the housing development corporation.

Tenants have been selected and will be moving in over the next several weeks.

Funding for the project included $4 million from PG&E in the form of a "tax credit investment" and monies from the city redevelopment agency, California's Dept. of Housing and Community Development, the California Housing Finance Agency, the Federal Home Loan Bank Affordable Housing Program, Wells Fargo Bank and Washington Mutual Bank.

Council to choose mayor's term

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Several residents responded to a News-Ledger article about a movement to give Mayor Christopher Cabaldon another year at the helm by showing up at the Sept. 8 city council meeting to speak.

Currently, the mayor is selected by a city council vote every November for a one-year term.

"Changing this without a vote of the people is not the way to go," Bill Resendez told the council. "When we get to the point where we need a full-time mayor, then the people can make the choice."

Businesswoman Julia Harrington presented the council with a petition asking for another year of Cabaldon as mayor.

"I want to point out that we have asked for an extension of Mayor Cabaldon's term only," she said. "For anyone in the future to have a two year term, it should be voted on."

Cabaldon said last month that he still feels West Sacramento's mayor ought to serve a two year term, to increase the continuity of the post.

"On a policy basis, the mayor ought to serve two years," he said. "Even if we were to agree that this would start after my term ends, this is acceptable."

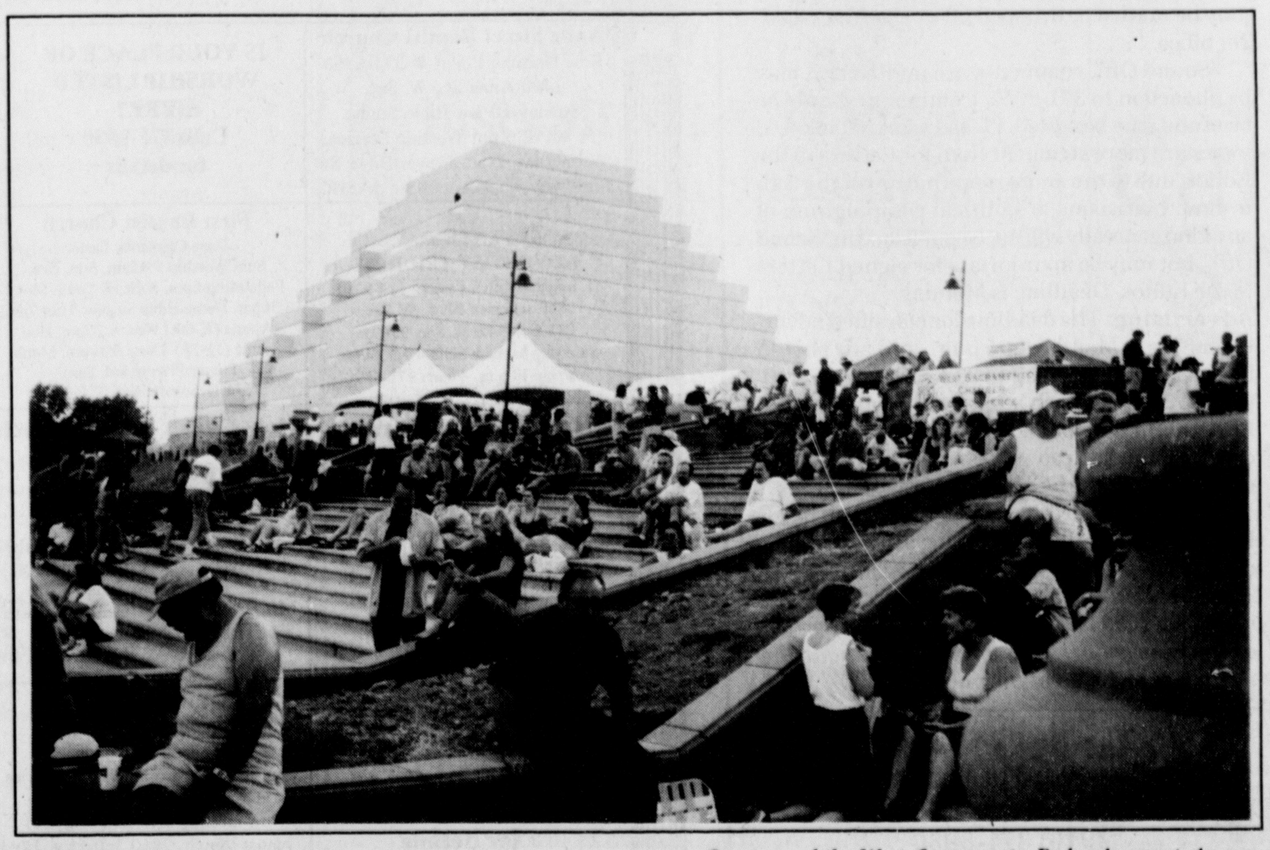

The council will discuss the length of the mayor's term this evening at its 7 p.m. meeting. Staff recommendation will be for a one-year term, which is the length established by the city's tradition thus far.

Grand Staircase

Last week's Riverbend Music Festival provided first use of the new 'Grand Staircase' on West Sacramento's waterfront.

Concert-goers were able to recline on the steps just north of the Money Store building (pictured at right) as they listened to musicians on the stage below.

George Carlin, newspaper headlines & a tasteless joke

Knowing that George Carlin was my favorite comedian when I was young, my daughter recently handed me a whole page full of quotes attributed to him that a work friend of hers had found on the Internet. Here are some of the ones I really enjoyed:

Don't sweat the petty things and don't pet the sweaty things.

One tequila, two tequila, three tequila, floor.

Atheism is a non-prophet organization.

The main reason Santa is so jolly is because he knows where all the bad girls live.

I went to a bookstore and asked the saleswoman, "Where's the self-help section?" She said if she told me, it would defeat the whole purpose.

If a man is standing in the middle of the forest speaking and there is no woman around to hear him, is he still wrong?

If someone with multiple personalities threatens to kill himself, is it considered a hostage situation?

- Isn't it a bit unnerving that doctors call what they do "practice"?

If a parsley farmer is sued, can they garnish his wages?

Would a fly without wings be called a walk?

If a turtle doesn't have a shell, is he homeless or naked?

Why don't sheep shrink when it rains?

How do they get the deer to cross at that yellow road sign?

Is it true that cannibals don't eat clowns because they taste funny?

What was the best thing before sliced bread?

One nice thing about people with huge egos, they don't talk about other people.

Never underestimate the power of stupid people in large groups.

The older you get, the better you realize you were.

Age is a very high price to pay for maturity.

Procrastination is the art of keeping up with yesterday.

Women like silent men because they think they're listening.

Men are from Earth, women are from Earth. Deal with it.

Give a man a fish and he will eat for a day. Teach him how to fish, and he will sit in a boat and drink beer all day.

Before they invented drawing boards, what did they go back to?

If the #2 pencil is the most popular, why is it still #2?

Do infants enjoy infancy as much a adults seem to enjoy adultery?

New principal at Holy Cross

Holy Cross School has a new principal.

Jane Golden, RSM, brings experience as former principal of three elementary schools to her new post in West Sacramento. She holds master's degrees in Educational Administration, English and Teaching Religion, and formerly worked as an administrator and teacher at Mercy High School and Bishop Manogue High School.

"I'm happy to be at Holy Cross School due to the long tradition of providing a Christian education to the children of the community," said Sister Golden in a press release. "I believe in a well-rounded education that focuses on academic, personal, athletic and creative growth."

City has tips on Y2K preparedness

The City of West Sacramento has issued a "Y2K" question-and-answer brochure including a discussion of emergency preparedness and recommendation of supplies to keep on hand for an emergency.

"Y2K" refers to the year 2000. As the New Year strikes and calendars roll over from 1999 to 2000, some people feel there will be computer problems which lead to greater problems for society. Since many computers read date codes only by the last two digits of the year, these computers could "think" that the new year is actually 1900, and problems with services may result.

The brochure was prepared jointly with the county of Yolo and the cities of Davis, Woodland and Winters. A city press release notes that utility providers, telephone companies and banks have assured customers that they are Y2K safe, but warns that some temporary disruptions remain possible.

For a copy of the brochure, call 373-5843.

The San Francisco Giants home season ended with a disappointing 9-4 loss to the rival Dodgers before a record crowd of 61,000 baseball fans last Thursday at Candlestick Park. The Giants, ended 40 years of baseball at Candlestick Park, by honoring over 60 players from the past and present Giants. Watching my childhood favorite, Willie Mays throw out the last pitch at Candlestick Park was the highlight of the day. The Giants removed home plate and moved it over to the new Pac-Bell Park for the season opener next April 11, 2000 against the Dodgers. Get your tickets early!

How about the Arizona Diamondbacks winning 100 games and running away with the N.L. West title. The Diamondbacks completed the biggest one-year turn-around in baseball history reaching the playoffs in just its second year. Arizona went from 65-97 in 1998 to 100-62 this year. Here's my picks for the Major league playoffs. In the National league the Arizona will be beat the Mets in their best of five series and the Braves will take the series against the Astros. In the American League the Texas Rangers will upset the Yankees in five games, while the Red Sox pull off the same magic against Cleveland. Stay tuned for my World Series picks next week!

The NBA training season started on Oct. 1 and the Trail Blazers were the first team to make a major trade, acquiring Scottie Pippen from the Rockets for six players. The Trail Blazers starting five of Arvydas Sabonis at center, Brian Grant and Pippen at forwards and Steve Smith and Damon Stoudamire at guards! Look out NBA teams here comes Portland! The Kings signed free agent Tyrone Corbin and now have 18 players under contract. Corliss Williamson signed a one-year $3.5 deal with Sacramento which was about half of what he wanted a few months ago. The Kings starting line-up looks like a contender with Valde Divac at center, Williamson and Webber at forwards and Nick Anderson and Jason Williams at the guards!

The 49ers, playing without Steve Young, held off the Titans 24-22 to improve the season record to 3-1. Early word with the Niners camp is that Young will sit out the game with the Rams next Sunday. The 49ers will start Jeff Garcia, who had a great day, completing 21 of 33 passes for 243 yards and two touchdowns, with no turnovers! The Niners travel to St. Louis to take on the first place Rams (3-0).

The Raiders almost pulled out the upset last Sunday in Seattle when Michael Husted came up short on his 61-yard game winning field goal attempt. Next week the Raiders will host the 0-4 defending champion Denver Broncos. The Broncos have hit rock bottom after losing their fourth game and their star running back Terrell Davis, who suffered a season ending knee injury last week. Look for the Broncos to start Chris Miller at quarterback next week.

Last week I won the 49ers game when the point spread dropped to 1 ½ points and the Raiders covered the point spread against Seattle but I lost my first Monday night game when Miami lost to Buffalo bringing my season total to 5 win and 4 losses.

In week five take the Arizona Cardinals (-1 ½) at home against the New York Giants and Detroit (- 3 ½) over San Diego. On Monday night, take the Jets (+3 ½) at home to upset Jacksonville. See yo next week!!

Raiders win their first league game

By Charles Robinson

River City High School's varsity football squad defeated Lincoln on Friday, 44-33.

River City scored first with a 30-yard pass from Brooks Marino to Marshaun Tate, and Morton Geivett made the kick. With 2:46 left in the first quarter, the Raiders again scored on a one-yard run by Malfred Shaw, and Geivett successfully kicked for a 14-0 lead.

In the second quarter, Lincoln scored on a 37-yard pass and brought the score to 14-7.

A 40-yard run by the Raiders' Shaw, and another Geivett kick, extended River City's lead to 28-7. The Raiders again scored on an Eric King pass interception. King returned 40 yards to the touchdown. The extra point kick was blocked, making it 34-7.

Lincoln scored next on a run, and after their kickoff, River City's Frankie Medina took the ball on the 10-yard line and ran it back for a 90-yard touchdown. Geivett's kick was good, bringing the score to 44-13.

Lincoln scored the next two touchdowns, with a run and a pass, bringing the final score to 44-33, River City in the lead.

Key players for the Raiders include some you never hear of, including the offensive linesman who open up holes and block for the ball carriers. River City's "big five" are Clay Harrell at tackle, Mohammad Salman at guard, Jacob Brown at center, Mario Santos at guard, and David Saldana at tackle. These guys are doing a great job up front.

Shaw carried the ball 34 times for 202 yards and three touchdowns against Lincoln.

The defense was led by Eric King, with eight tackles and six assists, three pass interceptions and a fumble recovery; Santos had seven tackles, six assists and a sack; Marino had seven tackles and six assists, with a knocked down pass; Rakesh Sharma had six tackles and six assists; M. Salman had three tackles, four assists and a sack; and Zafar Niazi had thre tackles, five assists.

River City's record is now 1-0 in league play and 2-2 overall.

The junior varsity team lost 12-6, watching Lincoln start the scoring with a touchdown on a 13-yard pass.

River City's Francisco Rodriguez then ran the ball 78 yards for a score, tying the game at 6-6.

Late in the fourth quarter, Lincoln scored on a four-yard run to make the scoring final at 12-6.

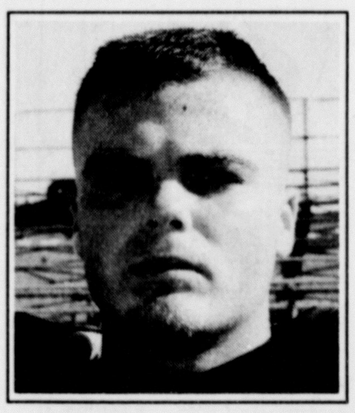

Rodriguez carried the ball nine times for 85 yards.

Defense was led by Jesus Castro, with eight tackles and seven assists; Lee Dwyer had five tackles and six assists; Erik Rodriguez had seven tackles and two assists; Ricky Navarro had four tackles and five assists, with a sack; Jeff Jones had five tackles and five assists; Robert Washington had four tackles and four assits; F. Rodriguez had four tackles, an assist and an interception; Jeremiah Hunt had a tackle, four assists and two fumble recoveries; and Airnoy Singvanno had three tackles and five assists.

On Friday, River City will be at home with Lindherst. The junior varsity starts at 5:30 and varsity at 7:30 p.m.

Featured athletes

River City High School's player of the week is Eric King, a 5' 10", 195 pound senior, who was instrumental in the win over Lincoln. He played fullback on offense, with five carries for 12 yards. He also played linebacker on defense, and was in on 12 tackles and three interceptions -- running one interception back 37 yards for a touchdown.

ERIC KING

Hitter of the Week is Vanty Khao (picture not available).

Vanty is a 6'1", 170 pound senior, who put new meaning to the words "big hit."

He was involved in three tackles on the kickoff team, and on one tackle, Vanty ran through the wedge, hit the running back and caused a fumble, which he then recovered.

Hitter and Player of the Week will each receive a Whitey's Special, fries and shake from Whitey's Jolly Kone.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

Getting out of the way of local rehab projects

Have you ever tried to repair and rehabilitate an old building in West Sacramento? Or do you know anyone who has?

If so, you know the story. With the best of intentions, the landlord sets out to fix up an old house, and is ready to spend ten or twenty thousand dollars. But when permits are obtained for some of the necessary work, the building department informs the landlord that a number of other things will be necessary in order to bring the house "up to code."

Ceiling joists have to be re-laid. A doorway must be widened six inches -- and the wall re-framed to allow it. Pipes must be replaced with bigger ones. Porch steps of the wrong size must be replaced.

All of a sudden, the project's cost has doubled or tripled -- and the new money just isn't in the budget. The landlord is tempted to walk away from the project, and a building that could have been made "better" is left unfixed because it isn't economically feasible to bring it "to code."

In rehabilitation projects for old buildings, some of the code requirements are hard to argue with: electrical wiring must be made safe, and buildings must be structurally sound, for example. But it often makes little sense to force the other changes necessary to get an old building to meet the standards required for new construction.

Sticking to these requirements mindlessly simply discourages people from fixing up older properties -- often in a city's vital "core" areas - and encourages them to pursue new construction elsewhere. Urban renewal is discouraged; suburban sprawl is hastened.

The state of New Jersey may be onto something of a solution to this problem. For a year, the state has had in place a "subcode" of building standards applicable to old properties facing rehabilitation. It is the nation's first such code.

Repair work may now be as simple as "putting something back the way it was," while new additions are still required to adhere to modern construction standards. A rehab project with improperly sized windows, doors and stairways, for example, won't have to upgrade these things as long as they are structurally sound.

The state reports that, in the first year the new subcode was in effect, rehabilitation work in New Jersey's five largest cities increased by 60 percent in 1998. The previous year, there had been only a 1.6 percent increase in rehab work.

West Sacramento officials are quite aware of the effects of too strict a code interpretation on rehabilitation projects, and have taken measures to reduce the burden to those fixing up older properties.

But New Jersey may provide a model for this city and state to encourage local landlords to "make it better." And West Sacramento, with its plentiful older neighborhoods and its aging riverfront Victorians, could benefit greatly by following such an example.

It's Westacre, not West Acre

Like myself, most folks who reside or work on Westacre Road in West Sacramento, know that the official name of that road is one word -- and it is not pluralized. That's the way it appears on the street signs, too. However, most of us "Westacreans" get mail incorrectly addressed to West Acre Road, or West Acres Road, or W. Acre Road, or W. Acres Road. Such inaccuracies also appear in various telephone and business directories. Moreover, it appear in the U.S. Zip Code and Post Office Directory only as "W. Acres Road" and only with street names beginning with the letter A. It does not appear under the W's in any form. The Directory's Internet webpage is likewise in error. I recently brought this to the attention of local and webpage U.S.P.S. officials. I was informed that a correction to the webpage directory will take from 30 to 60 days. It is questionable whether the bound volumes of published Zip Code Directories will ever be updated again because of the widespread, more convenient and more economical use of the Internet webpage directory.

WASHINGTON NEWS NOTES

Sacramento River registered two feet six inches, United States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. On the same date a year ago the United States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge showed a reading of ten feet two inches immediately following a heavy rain of two days. Many people may be inclined to think that the continued dry spell which prevails at the present time is disastrous but there should be no kick coming because rain at this time would be of no practical use. Great quantities of beans and rice and raisins and dried fruit are still in the open and these crops would be greatly damaged if a heavy downpour of rain should come along and ruin them. As a matter of fact rice growers are thanking the Lord for the continued dry spell which now prevails and are hoping for two weeks more of favorable weather. The report of the California co-operative crop reporting service, issued for last Saturday, September 25, reads:

The live stock industries of California do not face the serious shortage of hays and roughage feeds that was feared earlier in the year. Individual herds and bands within localities, and entire localities in some instances, will enter the winter months with very limited supplies of these feeds. However, if autumn rains bring green feed in the low valleys and foothills that normally produce winter feed, live stock industries as a whole will find sufficient feed within the state to carry through until April 1, 1925.

The most recent forecast of production of all hay in California for 1924 is 4,532,000 tons. It is estimated that on April 1, 1924 there remained on farms 471,000 tons of hay of the 1923 crop. Upon this basis the combined amount available for feed for the year April 1, 1924 to April 1, 1925 is estimated at 5,003,000 tons. During the twelve-month period beginning April 1, 1924 it is probable that the dairy industry will consume about 3,376,000 tons of hay, while other major lines of live stock will consume about 1,370,000 tons, or a total of 4,476,000 tons. The remaining hay, about 257,000 tons, along with imports, represents the amount available for feed to swine, slaughter stock in transit, poultry, milk goats and rabbits, or held as a carryover. Imports have not been large. While the miscellaneous lines of stock mentioned will no doubt use an important amount of forage, the approximate tonnage is extremely difficult to estimate.

The need for a study of the hay situation has been apparent because of the long continued drought throughout the state, which has brought about unusual feed conditions which are more difficult to analyze than at any previous time. This situation has been intensified by the prevailing high prices and low production of barley in the state.

In preparation for the advent of McAnulty Bros. to take over the holdings of the West Sacramento Company the head offices of the corporation have been moved to the northeast corner of the building with F. W. Turner in charge. It is expected that the McAnultys may arrive any day and take up the process of disposing of the land lately sold by the bondholders committee of the West Sacramento Company.

J. A. Sarmento, a farmer of West Sacramento district, was taken to the Sisters Hospital in Sacramento last Saturday for a slight operation. About six months ago he was injured in an accident by a tractor and was too busy at that time to give himself the necessary attention. Gradually he began to suffer from the injury and was forced to go to the hospital for treatment. Yesterday his condition was reported as being greatly improved.

J. B. Kelly, foster father of J. J. McNally, part owner of the West Side Auto Camp, has been visiting with McNally since last Wednesday. He came here from San Jose, where he had spent some time but originally came from Minnesota, where he had lived for several years. He expects to make his future home in this part of the state but probably in West Sacramento.

Business has been so good at the West Sacramento Auto Camp that Joe Pereira is about to start building fifty more cabins for tourists. Joe says that he is forced to turn away autoists or tourists every night and he believes this to be poor business, for every man who leaves takes along with him money that should be spent in Washington. Joe beleives that he can make more use of money than any man in the country and in turning away a tourist he does so with great regret.

The heating plant of the West Sacramento Auto Camp is being installed today so that in the future the laundry, the kitchen, the shower baths and the community house will have a supply of fresh, hot water all the time. In only a few auto camps are tourists provided with shower baths and hot water and it is mostly for that reason that the West Sacramento camp is so great a favorite with travelers.

Yesterday before Judge Anderson in Woodland John Allerton received his citizenship papers in company with two other residents of Yolo County, who had previously been examined. Allerton forswore allegiance to the King of England and took the oath of allegiance to the United States. Two witnesses accompanied Allerton to make affidavit that they had known him to have been a resident of the United States for more than five years, Henry Buckingham and Henry Leinberger, Jr.

Judge Barry has not yet returned from his vacation of one month which was granted to him by the board of supervisors, commencing on September 5. Next Monday morning he will take hold of the lines of office again and will be found at the court house administering justice with that well-known austerity which is characteristic of him. Although intending to go on a long trip during his vacation period he was prevented from doing so by a flood of visitors that came to visit him at his home in Washington. Principal among these was Jimmy Davis, an old-time resident of the town, but lately who has only been visiting here periodically.

Last Tuesday Constable Buckingham took Gene Rodgers to Woodland for examination for insanity. Rodgers had wandered across the bridge from Sacramento and in the vicinity of the M street bridge started to build a monument to himself. He wore many medals which he claimed had been given him by the government for bravery in battle, but unfortunately the medals did not bear the stamp of any government. They consisted mostly of pieces of rock, tin cans, wood and other metals. Rodgers had not been seen in this vicinity before and although he is not considered dangerous, Constable Buckingham believed that the best thing for him would be to be out of the way of damage. He will be tried after a few days.

Woodland, Oct. 2.—M. H. Allmon, bridge tender for the Sacramento Northern Railroad Company yesterday made application to the offices of Sheriff J. W. Monroe for permission to carry a revolver. The recent burglaries, bank robberies and other criminal episodes which have taken place in Yolo County within the past few weeks have caused Allmon to believe it advisable to be armed for any emergency which might arise.

James Montgomery, a resident of West Sacramento district for several years and a well-known bachelor, was taken to the hospital in Woodland by Constable Buckingham yesterday. He has been failing to take proper care of himself for some time and became debilitated through inattention. Good care and regular hours will again place him on his feet, although he is approaching the three score mark.

Mrs. A. A. Dassonville has completely recovered from a light spell of sickness with which she suffered for several days during the past week.

Reverend Father Marcucci has about decided to leave his pastorate in Washington to return to his native country, Italy. The Reverend Father has lately been suffering severely from internal trouble and his physicians have advised him to seek a change of climate. Arrangements have not yet been made by him and his parishioners are sorry that they must lose his administrations and pastorate.

Fred and Wallace White have returned from a deer hunt in Lassen County.

Ralph Steward, who has been confined to a hospital in Cincinnati, Ohio, for the past two years, has been removed to the home of his brother, John Steward of Monterey. The Stewards are former Washington residents.

Mrs. George Bowers of Hammonton is visiting in this section as the guest of Mrs. Mary Noyes.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gordon of Napa have returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Eugene have returned from a few days' trip to Berkeley, Watsonville and Monterey.

Mrs. Belle Ross and Miss Frances Hanson went to Vallejo last Saturday night and were joined by Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas. They later returned to Washington.

Miss Ardella Manchester and Miss Leona Sinderman spent the week-end in San Francisco on a pleasure trip. They were the guests of Mrs. Perry Moore.

Mrs. Thomas Porta has returned after a few days visit in San Francisco with her husband, who is confined to the Southern Pacific hispital. She stated that her husband is rapidly recovering from his recent serious illness.

Mrs. A. M .Cameron and Miss Claire Conrad were visitors in Wheatland as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jasper last Saturday.

Frank Sanlow of London, England, arrived here Saturday to make an extended visit at the home of his brother-in-law, J. A. Allerton.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKewn of Bellingham, Wash., are visiting with friends in Washington, en route to their home after spending several days in Los Angeles.

MACADAM ROAD BEING PLACED BETWEEN FREEPORT AND CLARKSBURG

To serve the steadily developing diversified farming area in the Holland Land District, construction work has begun on a macadam road on Lisbon levee on the west bank of the Sacramento River connecting Clarksburg and Freeport. The road will be twenty feet wide and have a six-inch base, and in construction the new improved method of proportion will be followed to produce a pavement superior to ordinary macadam.

Washington Boosters' Club Will Take Incorporation of Town into Serious Consideration for Immediate Action

Judging by expressions heard at the Washington Boosters' Club in the town hall it is amply evident that the members of the club will brook no delay in the accomplishment of incorporation.

A committee was appointed at the meeting last Tuesday night to deeply consider the question in all its phases. Ray Peek was named chairman of this committee and he will select the other members to help him.

Tentatively it was understood that J. Pereira, J. P. Floris, P. A. Fitsgerald, Mrs. J. McNevis and A. M. Cameron would help Peek in his efforts to gather a large meeting for the consideration of incorporation.

It was also understood that prominent speakers of Sacramento interested in the community will be asked to be present on the evening.

The Independent was requested to secure all data referring to incorporation and publish it, the club promising that distribution of the information will be thoroughly looked after at a slight cost which the publication might merit.

Following an enthusiastic meeting last Tuesday evening Ray Peek explained his absence from the club during two meetings during his vacation period.

He gave an interesting recital of his trip to Mount Lassen and the visit that he made to the crater of the California volcano. He also advised that Miss Alive Love, thirteen-year-old girl, had made the climb up the mountainside in record time of five hours and forty minutes.

It was reported at the meeting last Tuesday that a cave-in had again occurred at the crossing at Fourth and Anne streets, where an excavation was made last spring by the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., to place gas mains.

Mrs. Cameron, president of the club, was asked to notify the manager of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. of Sacramento, asking that the cave-in be filled so as to avoid wrecks.

Encouragement Given by Bondholders Committee of West Sacramento District

Writing to land owners of the West Sacramento district, George M. Jones, chairman of the improvement association of Reclamation District No. 900, says in a letter dated September 15:

"The construction of a deep water canal on the Yolo County side of the Sacramento River by utilizing the channel of the Yolo by-pass has been under discussion for some time past. This channel has been used for shipping as far as the San Francisco-Sacramento Railroad trestle, and engineers report that north of the trestle the water is from six to eight feet deep. A saving in distance of approximately sixteen miles would be made in comparison with the use of Steamboat Slough and the Sacramento River. The Yolo canal would be of inestimable value to the adjoining country.

"Regarding development of the townsite at West Sacramento and the farm lands purchased by the bondholders committee at the foreclosure sale of the West Sacramento Company:

"The bondholders committee have earnestly endeavored for the past eighteen months to interest local capital to take over and develop the twenty-five hundred acres under its jurisdiction and after many conferences and a volume of correspondence has been fortunate to close negotiations with Mr. Thomas D. McAnulty, the senior member of McAnulty Bros., whose operations extend from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Pacific Coast.

"The McAnulty Bros. have had a vast experience in this line of enterprise and look forward to establishing a thriving community on the townsite at West Sacramento and the adjoining tract north thereof to the Southern Pacific Railroad.

"This property is excellently located being within three miles of the State Capitol Park and the shopping district of Sacramento. There are excellent industrial sites having rail and water transportation facilities. Three railroads, the Southern Pacific, the Sacramento Northern and the San Francisco-Sacramento Short Line traverse this property. It is also traversed by the state highway, the main artery of traffic to San Francisco. This property can be considered the west portal of Sacramento.

"The agricultural lands are to be subdivided into five, ten, twenty or larger acreages if desired and settled with a good class of farmers, either from the Pacific Coast states or the Middle West.

"The plans now being formulated provide for the erection of approximately five hundred houses and stores in the townsite by January 1, 1926, and the completion of the townsite and adjoining property within five years.

"The agricultural properties will sell more rapidly as it is planned to erect such buildings on each tract as may be desired by the purchaser, and accordingly each farm will be ready for occupancy upon the arrival of the purchaser or his family.

"The amount involved in this enterprise will probably be over one million dollars.

"We therefore believe, with the improvements now planned by McAnulty Bros., together with those of other large land owners in this locality, that eastern Yolo County is now about to enter into a period of prosperity seldom enjoyed by any community.

"Trusting to have the continued cooperation of everyone in the district for the advancement of the improvement association, and that its membership rolls will soon include all the owners and residents, with conditions continuing as good as they have been for the past year, together with the untiring energy from the various committees, we can hope for continued prosperity.

"Yours very truly,
"G. M. JONES,
"Chairman."

Tomorrow, October 4, is the last day on which voters may register before the general election which will take place on November 4.

Two registrars of voters have been appointed in this locality, David Barry and Mrs. George, the postmistress.

No voter of the county should miss this last opportunity because in so doing the opportunity to vote for the President of the United States may be missed.

The people of the United States are supposed to be the government and the only way they have of expressing an opinion concerning the government is through the ballot.

Register tomorrow and vote on November 4.

SUIT HAS BEEN FILED BY GEORGE BORCHERS AGAINST VAN TASSEL

Woodland, Sept. 26.—George Borchers and O. F. Van Tassel, neighbors in Reclamation District 900, located in the vicinity of West Sacramento property, are going to court to settle a dispute over water rights.

Suit was today filed by Borchers, who seeks $2,380 damages from Van Tassel. Borchers alleges that Van Tassel has dammed up an irrigation ditch and that by reason of the obstruction Borchers' alfalfa and corn crops were seriously affected.

The ditch is operated by the reclamation district and Van Tassel had no right to install a dam, claims Borchers.

Martin I. Welch and Robert Schwab are attorneys for the plaintiff.

The defendant is a brother to Horticultural Commissioner H. M. Van Tassel.

STEWART WAREHOUSE IN WEST SACRAMENTO IS TO BE COMPLETED SOON

Four men have been busy in the construction of the Stewart warehouse in West Sacramento during the past week. The foundation of the building was laid last Saturday and now the framework is completed and receiving the outside finish of galvanized iron.

The warehouse measures twenty-eight by sixty feet and is so constructed that an addition can be made at either side at very little expense and in short notice.

It is located immediately west of the county road running to West Sacramento headquarters and just north of the tract owned by Dr. Boyd.

The Stewart feed mill has been purchasing great quantities of hay, barley and grain and other products in West Sacramento for several years. The warehouse was built with the idea of storing this material on the ground near the point of production to be hauled later on to the retail place in Sacramento.

Before the end of this week there will be stored 800 bales of hay that have been purchased in West Sacramento.

Subsequent additions can be made to accommodate more material and it is possible that the retail place now located in Sacramento may be eventually moved to this side of the river.

PROHIBITION NOT HALF SO STRINGENT IN EAST AS HERE

Returning from the eastern states and Canada after a tour of seven weeks, Frank Beale is again at work in the Beale grocery store in Washington.

After several years of hard work Frank laid away a nest egg that he intended using in this trip and now has returned after visiting many relatives, his old home and several places of note in the eastern states and Canada.

In Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, Frank spent over two weeks and noted the condition of mind with which the people treated prohibition. There they were absolutely satisfied and went along about their work with nobody loafing, no drunkenness and everybody happy.

Leaving Hamilton, he visited in New York, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Delaware and several other places.

As it is in California, so it is in the eastern portion of the United States. There is lots of poor booze and many drunkards. Crime is just as prevalent in the eastern states as it is in California and with all the money spent to enforce prohibition the flood of illicit booze continues.

From the Canadian border booze comes in great truckloads. From seaport points booze also comes in great truckloads, but for the workingman this Canadian Club and Scotch whiskey are too high in price and can be enjoyed only by the banker, the business man or the capitalist.

Corn whiskey is the principle article of consumption for the workingman of the eastern states, but poisonous liquor is also being sold for prices varying from 15 to 50 cents a drink.

Frank Beale is glad to be at home in California again, and while he is very abstentious he indulges once in a while for his stomach's sake.
